

Representative Vell Placement

DENNIS C. CONNORS
MEMBER OF THE BOARD OF DIRECTORS

ROCHESTER, NY – August 9, 2007 – Performance Technologies, Inc. (NASDAQ: PTIX), a leading developer of communication platforms and systems, today announced two changes in the composition of its Board of Directors effective August 8, 2007.

Connors was appointed by the Board of Directors to fill a Director vacancy. Mr. Connors, age 53, is currently an independent business advisor to senior management in public and private equity companies. He has over 20 years executive experience in the communications and networking industry, including roles at 3Com Corporation as executive vice president of worldwide operations, president of CommWorks, a wholly owned subsidiary of 3Com, supplying both wireless and wireline solutions to service providers, and president of 3Com's Business Connectivity Company. Prior to 3Com, he was executive vice president and general manager of the service business for Ericsson, Inc. and during the Ericsson/General Electric joint venture from 1990-1995, he served as vice president of worldwide marketing and vice president of global product development and operations for the Private Radio Systems Business. Mr. Connors previously worked at General Electric for nine years, where he held a number of executive positions. "We are very pleased that Dennis has joined our Board," noted John Slusser. "His high-tech experience and successful executive track record are closely aligned with that of our business and, as such, will further add to the substantial credentials of our Board. I very much look forward to working with Dennis in his new role as one of our Directors."

About Performance Technologies

Performance Technologies (NASDAQ: PTIX) is a global supplier of integrated IP-based platforms and solutions for advanced communications networks and innovative computer system architectures. The company entered into a merger agreement with Sonus Networks, Inc. in 2013.